INTRODUCTORY.

After several weeks of incessant labor, we present to the citizens of Wichita, a general and business directory which we believe will meet the wants of the public in this particular. The labor required in the making of a directory is considerable and indeed it is a delicate task, necessitating good judgment on the part of the compilers, coupled with a persistency that few men possess or care to cultivate. Our conscientious purpose has been to make our work not only complete in every particular but altogether trustworthy. We have been to every residence in the city and have been extremely careful in the spelling of names, and in view of the fact that the citizens of Wichita have been so often annoyed by so called directory publishers, we desire to express our thanks for the uniform courtesy with which we were treated, and our inquiries for information that no doubt seemed impertinent, were answered. We are not so conceited in our ability as to claim perfection in our work, knowing that no book was ever perfect especially where the compilers had to trust altogether to others for their information.

But we do claim that our work will show a degree of completeness and a simplicity of arrangement that will be appreciated by the generous citizens of Wichita.

We wish to call attention to another thing, and that is the entirety of this work, is a Wichita production, the same being done by the Wichita Eagle steam printing and binding establishment, and much credit reflects on this office for the neat appearance of our work.

And now that the labors of collecting, compiling and printing our directory are finished, we wish before bidding adieu to our friends to return our thanks to our patrons, who have so generously patronized and aided us in the publication of our work.

Hoping for their kind indulgence and that we may merit a liberal patronage for similar works in the future, we bid you all, kind friends, adieu. The Publishers.

SOUTHWESTERN KANSAS AND WICHITA.

ADVANTAGES OF.

In a work like this, designed as it is for general reference, a pioneer history would be out of place and indeed it has been so well written by such eminent writers that it would be presumption on our part to attempt it. We will, therefore, confine ourselves to a few general remarks on the advantages Kansas and Wichita may possess for the investment of capital, or the making of a home in this favored part of the world.

As a state, Kansas is recognized as pre-eminent for agriculture, stock raising and dairy product. Her laws are liberal and protective, both for capital and labor; her schools are unsurpassed in many much older states; religion, like education, is free, untrammeled and progressive; her soil is the most productive in the world; the climate is one that has no malarial taint in it, healthful and invigorating; the state is free from public debt; her citizens energetic, thorough-going and intelligent, every year adding to their number by the influx of new muscle, bone and vigor, as well as capital; and it will not be a matter of surprise if the agricultural resources, which now appear beyond computation may be in the lapse of time developed to a complete fullness by the efforts of those who come to people one of the most magnificent of these United States. The elements are not more changeable than the events and fortunes of a new country; the land-marks and relics of pioneer life are fast fading from view, and with our magnificent railroad system, stretching from ocean to ocean, the American frontier will soon be a thing of the past; yesterday a vast wilderness of prairie, to-day an empire—cities and villages are springing up as if by magic all over this broad land. The wild flower of the plain, the prairie grass and tangled brush-wood have been supplanted by rich, waving fields of golden grain; and in place of Indian "tepees," or encampments, are the dwellings of husbandmen or populous and flourishing cities, and among the most favored and prosperous stands

WICHITA,

The "Queen City" of the Arkansas Valley, situated 212 miles southwest of Atchison at the junction of the Little and Big Arkansas rivers. It is not old in years, but in experience, which makes men old and towns too, we suppose it is very aged. It is the county seat of Sedgwick county and was made a city of the second class in 1872, since which time it has had a steady growth with occasional backsets, such as all growing western towns have experienced. Little more than one decade has passed and we have a busy little city of over 8,000 inhabitants, ranking third in the State, with all classes of business well represented, with as pushing, thriving, energetic set of business men as we have ever met.

Wichita's location gains it an advantage which the business men of the city were not slow to see, and at no distant day will result in the upbuilding of one of the best trade centers in the state.

Its main interest now is commerce and shipping (stock and grain), with a fair start in manufacturing and no doubt its future rapid advancement depends to a great extent upon the early development of the latter interest and the natural advantages possessed by this city will at no distant day, make it one of the best manufacturing points in the state.

As a place of residence, Wichita is without a peer in the state for a city of its population.

In selecting a place, in which to locate permanently, a place where social relations are such that our families may not feel cut off from kindred ties and associations where they may, be in possession of all that tends to benefit both civic and moral relationship, is a point to be as we believe it is well considered, so that while we find remunerative employment for our capital, let it consist of brains, strong hands or money, we may know that our wives and children, our mothers and sisters are living in a congenial and ennobling sphere. The first point for consideration is the

SCHOOLS,

For this is the first round in the ladder that leads to all that is great, good and noble. The history of the schools dates from the beginning of Wichita, and notwithstanding the rapid, vigorous growth and development of the city, the school system has always been fully equal to all the requirements for the education of the young to prepare them for the great battle of life. The citizens exert every effort to bring the mental and moral caliber of the city to as high a standard as its commercial leaders have its business interests.

The city is provided at present with three good school buildings, employing one principal and eighteen teachers. Provision has been made for the erection and furnishing at no distant day of an academy building at a cost of $25,000. This will afford facilities for an education unsurpassed in the state. In addition to these, Prof. P. C. Lewis has lately established a commercial and business college, where penmanship and book-keeping are made specialties.

Another element that has tended toward cementing the friendship of the business men and families of Wichita is the number and high character of the

BENEVOLENT ORGANIZATIONS

Of the city—the Masonic, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Ancient Order of United Workmen, American Legion of Honor, Turnverein and Grand Army of the Republic, all in a flourishing condition, with the leading men of the city as members.

CHURCHES.

The religious element of Wichita is very strong, much more so than one would expect to find in any western city, where the minds of all are seemingly engrossed in the race for the evasive but almighty dollar. Nine churches give accommodation to the Sabbath observing populace. The influence of the churches over all in this city is great and has aided very materially in rendering Wichita a most delightful place of residence.

Another important factor in the advancement of the city is the

BOARD OF TRADE,

Organized in 1880, and is composed of over 80 members of the leading business men of the city.

The Board has for its principal object the promotion of the commercial and manufacturing interests of the city. The Board and its individual members are always ready and willing to give any information within their reach, to any person desiring to locate any kind of business in the city that will add to its wealth and prosperity. The following are its officers for the year 1883; A. W. Oliver, pres't; J. H. Black, sec'y.

RAILROADS.

Wichita has at present two lines of road, one St. Louis & San Francisco, direct from St. Louis and terminating at this point. The other, southern branch of the A. T. & S. F. from Atchison and Kansas City, Chicago connection. Another road will be finished to this point within a year, giving direct connections with Memphis and the lower Gulf States.

A law recently enacted by congress establishes at Wichita the

U. S. DISTRICT COURT

For the district of Kansas with original jurisdiction over the Indian Territory, except the Cherokee and Choctaw nations. One term each year; court sitting in September. A resident U. S. marshal and clerk of court at Wichita with their offices and books pertaining to the same.

CONCLUSION.

People are accustomed to say that the future is shrouded in darkness and while it is true that some of its aspects and movements are unknown to us, it is also true that the future is not entirely blank. The light of the past and present flashes forth in the future, revealing to us many of the prominent features of the facts that are to be. Glancing back but a few short years when the west was a barren wilderness and Wichita an Indian encampment, and then taking a hasty look into the happenings of the heart of the continent from then until now, and seeing that the vast region lying between the Missouri river and the Rocky Mountains contained but a few hundred inhabitants that the advance couriers of the great throng that was to come had just reached its eastern borders, and their cheery cry of "Westward ho!" yet vibrated in the air; that the germ of commerce had but just sprouted; that in all that region manufacturing was unknown, but that it now teems with a population of over 10,000,000; that the Indian encampment has become a city of metropolitan features and one of the trade centers of the great southwest; that these millions are but the advance guard of millions yet to come and for whom there is ample room and opportunity. Taking all these facts into consideration, we see clearly revealed in the great future, the fact that Wichita will soon be rife with the roar and hum of manufactories. This we announce in full confidence that it will surely come; that such is the fiat of destiny, the on-rolling wave of the inevitable that cannot be stayed, and it rests with the business men of this city, who are to control the coming tide of manufacturing enterprises to give to the world proofs of her fitness as a manufacturing as well as a commercial center.

No place in the west has better openings or greater inducements to offer to those desiring to enter commercial or manufacturing pursuits. Any information desired by parties desiring to locate in the west will be gladly answered by J. H. Black, secretary of the Board of Trade.
